STORMWATER PREVENTION TIPS

Controlling erosion and preventing the spread of pollutants are important reasons to understand how your property impacts stormwater runoff. Stormwater runoff occurs when rain or snowmelt cannot percolate into the soil or sediments. Modern buildings, roads and parking lots cause dramatic increases in stormwater runoff because they are made of impervious materials. To make matters worse, water flowing across these surfaces picks up trash and pollutants such as oil, pesticides, and other toxins on their way to local streams, rivers and lakes.

Creative landscaping that takes stormwater into consideration is the best solution to runoff problems. Walk the perimeter of your property during, or shortly after, a heavy rain and look for areas that have water running into streets or onto sidewalks. Using plants, gravel or a combination of both in these areas will slow the flow of water and allow it to seep into the ground. Incorporate wood decks, gravel or interlocking bricks and stones rather than cement whenever possible to increase percolation. It's best to limit the use of high maintenance areas, such as green lawns. If you choose to keep a lawn area, incorporate landscaping swales. These are low dips in the lawn that allow water to collect and percolate rather than flowing off the grass.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

We are looking for volunteers who would be willing to refinish the picnic tables at the bowery. The tables will need to be sanded down and re-varnished. This would be a great Eagle Scout project. Please call the city office if you are interested.

ADOPT A TRAIL

Bevan Higbee is the new Wellsville Reservoir trail coordinator. The City is looking for a family who would like to adopt the west side of the trail, and take an active role in garbage pick-up and cleaning the rocks off the trail. Please call Bevan if your family would like to help with this worthwhile project, his phone number is 245-3622.
